DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 11/05/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
2. The applicant argues that Unity™ (butylnorbornene and triethoxysilyl) was not known to be photopatternable until 2003.
3. The property that a material can be pattern using light depends on the physical chemical structure of the material and is therefore inherent to the material. The photopatternability of Unity™ (butylnorbornene and triethoxysilyl) is therefore inherent. MPEP 2112, 2131.01.
4. In response to applicant's argument that the applicant has recognized photopatternability, the fact that applicant has recognized another advantage which would flow naturally from following the suggestion of the prior art cannot be the basis for patentability when the differences would otherwise be obvious. See Ex parte Obiaya, 227 USPQ 58, 60 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1985).
